

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

C H A P T E R XI.

Of the ordinary Meetings of the Society.

I. THE ordinary Meetings of the Society shall be weekly, upon Thursday, beginning at six of the clock in the afternoon, and continue about an hour as usual, at the discretion of the President.

II. When the President takes the chair, the rest of the Fellows shall place themselves orderly and conveniently for the business of the Meeting ; and no stranger shall be permitted to be present during the Meeting, unless by order of the President, or by leave obtained of the Society upon the motion of some Member before the President takes the chair ; and the name of every person so permitted to be present, and of the Fellow who moved for him, shall be entered in the Journal-Book.

III. When any Fellow speaketh, he shall address his speech to the President ; and the rest shall be silent.

IV. When two or more offer to speak together, the President shall determine which of them shall speak first.

V. The business of the Society in their ordinary Meetings shall be, to order, and take account of, philosophical experiments and observations ; to read and hear letters, reports, and other papers, concerning philosophical matters ; as also to view the Productions of nature and art : and thereupon to consider what may be deduced from them, or any of them ; and how far they, or any of them, may be improved for use or discovery.